RELIGIOUS BELIEFS

SOLDIERS AT CAMP ZACHARY
TAYLOR REPRESENT 65
DENOMINATIONS.

Statistics which were recently completed for the Army Y. M. C. A. show that there are sixty-five religious denominations represented at Camp Zachary Taylor. At the time which this report was compiled, the denominations with more than one thousand representatives were as follows: Methodist, 4,861; Catholic, 4,112; Baptist, 3,783; Christian, 2,757, and Presbyterians, 1,315.

Seventeen religious denominations were credited with only one member. Nine Mohammedans are in the camp, according to the report. There were 761 men with no religious preference or belief and 582 that were unaccounted for. There also were 98 Quakers, 22 Menonites and 21 Dunkards.

MORE CASUALTIES.

Gen. Pershing reported to the War Department Saturday that Private Glenn H. Campbell, of St. Claire, Minn., was killed in action February 27, and that four men were slightly wounded in action on the same day and eleven slightly hurt the day before. No details were given. Gen. Pershing also reported that Private Samuel A. Kaplan, Lawrence, Mass., died February 26 of wounds received in action, and that Private Harry Taylor, Springfield, O., died February 28 as result of an enemy gas attack.

Papers on Prisoners

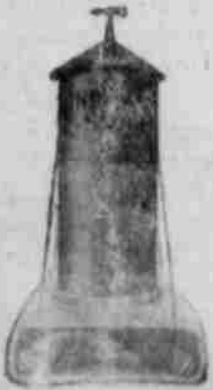

The location of every dugout, emplacement and depression of the ground in the American trenches was known to the Germans before the recent attack. This became known when papers were taken from the body of a Prussian Captain. German prisoners were frank to admit that the Huns cannot win the war. Deeds of heroism on the part of American soldiers are being recounted by their companions.

BOARD TRIAL FOR HEARING

Capt. William E. Reilly Will Represent the Physician At Court-Martial.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 4.—The case of Maj. Milton Board, of Louisville, against whom charges were preferred growing out of the death of Private Otha Murray, of Cumberland county, will be called for trial at 9 o'clock this morning before a general court-martial, of which Col. William E. Guthrie, commander of the 309th Engineers is president. Capt. Clarence Martin, judge advocate of the court, and Capt. William E. Reilly, of the 335th Infantry, counsel for Maj. Board, agreed upon the date for the trial.

After being discharged from the base hospital where he was patient suffering from measles, Murray was stricken with pneumonia and returned to the hospital. His relatives were notified of his serious condition and his father and brother came to see him. They requested that they be allowed to take the sick soldier home. They had been informed that he could not recover. He was taken from the train at Glasgow, Ky., and conveyed to a hotel where his death occurred within twenty-four hours.

Later his relatives complained that he was allowed to leave the camp poorly clad. A board was appointed here to make an investigation into the circumstances and later charges were preferred against Maj. Board medical officer in charge of the ward at the hospital where patients afflicted with nervous ailments are treated. The case was called for trial on January 24, but was indefinitely postponed because Surgeon General Gorgas asked that the Camp Inspector probe into the affair.

Later the matter was taken up by Congressman R. Y. Thomas in letters to President Wilson, according to news dispatches from Washington. The case has attracted a great deal of attention. Capt. Reilly who will represent Maj. Board, recently announced that the defense was anxious for a hearing at an early date.

KENTUCKY'S QUOTA

Placed At $900,000 For Next Red Cross Drive, Starting May 6

Cleveland, March 4.—The quota of the Lake Division of the American Red Cross in the second Red Cross drive to raise a fund of $100,000,000 to carry on the war work of that organization among the fighting men and civilian populations of the United States and Allied countries will be $9,400,000. It was announced at the headquarters of the Lake Division here last night.

Of this amount Kentucky's quota will be $900,000; Indiana's $2,100,000 and Ohio's $6,400,000. The drive will be directed in each of the three States by a State director not yet named, and it will extend through the week of May 6 to May 13.

Manufacture of Ice, Due to Shortage of Ammonia, Stops To day

(By International News Service.)

Albany, March 4.—Manufacture of ice ceased in New York State today. Under an order issued recently by ex-Governor B. B. Odell, State Ice Controller, the manufacture of ice is prohibited, except under special Government license. This action was taken in view of the shortage in ammonia used in the ice making process and at present in great demand in the manufacture of high explosives for war use.

Leading men in the ice industry feel certain there will be no serious shortage of ice this summer. When Ice Controller Odell issued his order ice dealers throughout the State immediately made a rush to harvest every bit of available natural ice, and there was plenty to be cut and stored as a result of the unusually frigid weather during January and February. In addition, the state has made arrangements to reimburse natural ice dealers for all of the product they cannot dispose of. This proved a stimulus to laying in enormous stocks of natural ice.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG.

(Writes Rev. J. O. Smithson.)
With The American Expeditionary Force, "Somewhere in France,"
Feb. 5th, 1918.

Dear Papa:

We are in France O. K., and I am well and getting along alright. We had a rough voyage, but did not see any sub-marines as we came across. The French people are sure good to us. We can't understand much of their language yet, but make signs and understand each other very well. Most of the people here wear wooden shoes, and you can hear them walking for a long way. They don't have many wagons, but use carts, and when they work two horses, they have one in front of the other. Their horses are large ones, and they can haul big loads, even with one horse.

Timber is scarce here, so all the houses are built of stone. We have had good weather since we arrived here. It is cold at night, but warm in the day-time. We have good good places to sleep, get plenty to eat, so we are getting along fine. I was sorry I didn't get to see Elmer before I left there; I guess he got there on the same day we left.

We have a Y. M. C. A. here, and have plenty of entertainment. Well, I will close for this time. Write to me soon, and write to my wife and boy too, and go down to see them whenever you can, for I know they will be glad to see you.

As ever your son,
Pvt. John L. Smithson,

C. where he will take a position as stenographer in Judge Advocate's department. King left Hopkinsville several months ago and located at Liberal, Kan., to practice law, but he couldn't withstand the call to serve his country. His wife and child will make their home with Mrs. King's parents in Paducah.

EVERY CITIZEN SOLDIER ON DUTY AT HIS HOME

Everyone must help if we are to win. The soldier must obey orders or there will be no army. The people must be one or there will be no nation. So that we win, all of us must follow directions.

This is your war guide for use in your home.

It tells you what foods we must save to provision ourselves and our allies; it tells how we can stretch our supplies so everyone will have enough—without any hurt to your health or your strength.

Your government does not ask you to give up three square meals a day—not even one. All it asks is that you eat less of the foods we need to keep the armies going and eat all you want of the other things that we have in plenty.

Eat plenty—keep up your strength and your vim to help win the war. You have dedicated to the nation everything that you have; you are asked now to give up—just some habits of the kitchen and table.

American and her allies must not run out of wheat, meat, or fats. If we let that happen, Germany will win the war.

We must save sugar, use every drop of milk, and—we must learn to follow directions.

KEEPS MEN CONTENTED

Canteen Service of Red Cross Has Good Influence.

Soldiers Are Given the Home Touches and Little Attentions That Mother Understands.

Washington.—Canteen service as provided by the American Red Cross for our soldiers in France is one of the most potent influences for keeping the men contented and in the right frame of mind to smash the Germans, says Mrs. Jean Hull, who is in this country on two months' leave.

"A canteen is a long shack where the soldiers are served coffee, sandwiches and more substantial food, as well as sweets. Here a soldier may get his clothes mended, may have them cleaned after the filth of the trenches, and if he is homesick may pour out his heart to one of the American women in charge."

In other words, the canteen furnishes that homelike touch which means so much to a man three or four thousand miles from his family and friends.

Mothers with boys in France or in training to go to France will be made happy in knowing that such care is given to their sons by the Red Cross. The American women who have volunteered to run the canteens are among the nation's most cultivated women. They are enduring conditions which are in marked contrast with the surroundings of their own homes.

"Lots of times an American soldier will come into the canteen," said Mrs. Hull, "with a spell of the blues. He has been out in the mud, is tired and hungry, and most of all wants sympathy. When he sees us women cheerfully washing in a mud puddle, sleeping in cold rooms and working long hours on a stretch, he gets ashamed of his feelings and braces up. They are mighty glad to see a woman from home and find our reading room, music and chatter most alluring. We have to run them out at times, they are so eager to stay even after regular hours."

GERMAN EYES PUT OUT

The old mill at Puzieux in the Somme sector re-enforced and used by the Germans as an observation post. The mill was taken by the French after a hand-to-hand struggle.

Hard to Get Over Road.

Memphis, Tenn.—Restricted travel is not confined to those who speed across the country in trains de luxe and upholstered Pullmans. Hobos and other species of migratory humanity complain that it is becoming increasingly difficult to "get over the road" because of special agents employed by the railroads to guard against I. W. W. activities.

About Advice.

The worst thing about advice, observes a writer, is that those who are qualified to give it never do, and those who insist upon serving you with a full, seven-course table d'hôte meal of it, always prove to be the worst of chefs.
